LGBT-INCLUSIVE RELATIONSHIPS AND SEX EDUCATION

Confidence and content. Stonewall and NCC joint workshop Language and resources, policy and parental consultation.

Sarah Rose
Senior Children and Young People Programmes Manager

Thursday 2nd April 2020. 9:30 am to 12:00 and 12:45-14:45

Please use the Google Form to book a place. You can attend the morning, afternoon or both sessions

If this isn't possible email gill.finch@northumberland.gov.uk with your name, role and place of work.

A free workshop for primary and secondary teachers, headteachers, TAs and PSHE lead teachers to learn more about relationships education and best practice in LGBT inclusion.

Led by Stonewall, the largest LGBT rights organisation in Europe. The morning is an opportunity to learn more about how relationships education and personal development are being inspected, what help and which resources are available to schools, and how to deal with some of the challenges, such as raising staff confidence to use the language of LGBT inclusion.

In a compact session, you will have the chance to expand your understanding and confidence, and make the most of Sarah's experience and expertise.

For anyone who would appreciate some support to write their RSHE policy or some support to develop a mechanism for consulting with parents, there will be a short afternoon session with Gill Finch from NCC. You can choose to attend either or both sessions

Free to attend. Please bring lunch, or be ready to pop over to the shops.
