

Primary History and Geography support

Julie McGrane & Anne Echevarria

Contact: Julie@knowhowEd.com

Acclaim for knowhow training and support:

As a non-specialist, the programme has given me the confidence to move away from literacy based humanities teaching to a far stronger focus on historical and geographical concepts and skills.

Course participant

...this support has prompted a complete shake-up and rethink...loads of great ideas, just what we needed!

Course participant

All the practical activity examples have been really good to try – we can already see a better understanding among the children.

Course participant

Come along to this free Geography and History support session to triage your curriculum plans using the findings from Ofsted's 'Getting our bearings' Geography subject report and History's 'Rich Encounters with the past'.

The session will provide you with examples of:

- geographical skills progression, geography fieldwork ideas,
- Ways to help children develop their understanding of procedural concepts - History and Geography's 'Big Ideas'
- ways to develop pupil's understanding of substantive concepts in History
- Ways to develop oracy, and a language for thinking and reasoning through history and geography.

KnowhowEd can provide you with units of work, support joint planning, assessment, task design and adaptive practice.

Find out more about how to join our Geography and History network and get a 10% discount on bespoke school or network training and support if you attend this session.

